Kansas City Water Works Appeals from Justice Brewer's Decision.

BURLINGTON, Vt., July 23--Justice Brewer, of the United States Supreme Court, has granted the National Water Works Company of Kansas City, Mo., an appeal from his decision of last Thursday in the case of the company against the city.

The city won about every point in the case, in granting the appeal to the United States Circuit Court Justice Brewer said the appeal would certainly be dismissed. The case involves an enormous amount of money. Twenty years ago the city granted the company rights, privileges and franchises, upon condition that it should pay to the city the sum of $200,000 on payment of $2,000 or leaving the city in control. The city now desires to pay the sum of $200,000, but the company, which has been in control since the expiration of the twenty years, is trying to retain the property, which now would be sold to the city, for more than $200,000. The city, Judge Brewer's decision leaves the plan in the National company's hands, but under such conditions as to become a profit to the city and a consequent loss to the company.

NEW THING IN TRADING.

Remarkable Success of the Monetary Trust, a New Financial Institution.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

NEW YORK, July 23--The most interesting recent development in Wall street has been the remarkable success of a new financial institution called the Monetary Trust. As the New York World and other New York city papers commenting thereon

"It has gathered up a lucrative trade from those who prefer to do trading in Wall street upon logical reasons instead of the usual hints, tips, innuendoes and rumors."

It influenced a large number of clients to buy Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad stock before the recent advance and outwitted the professional operators on the exchange, making a large amount of money for its own account. Its purpose is to aid investors in the profitable use of money. It does not operate syndicates, pools, joint accounts, market manipulation or any other of the devices by which limitation of the investing public should be made. Francis D. Carley is the president, and other men of similar experience and reputation are united with him. It does seem as though the time has come in the history of Wall street when the prosperity of the investing public should be made the basis of business.

SIX COUNCILMEN ARRESTED.

They Refused to Attend a Meeting Called by the Mayor.

"TOLEDO, O., July 23--A sensational meeting was held in the Circuit Court last evening by the arrest of six Democratic members who refused to obey the Mayor's official call for a joint session of the Council and aldermen. The session was called to conform to the appointment of Judge Commager to the bipartisan board of elections. The Mayor, who had been rejected by the joint session of a week ago, the Democrats exerting their influence over the rest of the body in claiming that Commager had been a traitor to his party. His appointment was therefore not confirmed. The Mayor, who had called for a joint session to take action again on the appointment, and the Democrats, after answering to their names at roll call, absolutely left the council chambers and resolved to return. The city solicitor drew up a writ of habeas corpus for their arrest, which was signed by the president of the board and given to the sergeant-at-arms to serve. The Democrats were locked in an adjoining room and refused to open the door, and the sergeant-at-arms, who in the police did they consent to allow the sergeant to enter. After he had read the warrant, which was signed by the president of the board and given to the sergeant to serve, the Democrats were locked

HORR AND HARVEY SHAKE HANDS AND PEOPLE CALL IT A DRAW.

Final Arguments on United States Adopting Free Coinage Regardless of Action Elsewhere.

GREAT CLAIMS BY BOTH

"COIN" HOLDS IT WOULD MAKE PEACE, PLENTY AND HAPPINESS.

On the Other Hand, Horr Insists It Would Cause the Biggest Panic
the Planet Ever Saw.

CHICAGO, July 23--

The last day of the Horr-Harvey debate opened this afternoon.

The day's attack was directed at the question of the feasibility of independent action by the United States for the remone-tization of silver and its free and unlimited coinage at a ratio of 16 to 1 with gold, regardless of the acts of other nations. History was argued for such action.

Mr. Horr against it.

The discussion was opened by Mr. Horr with a statement that the figures for the prices of corn, referred to by Mr. Harvey on a former day, showed that the fluctuation of silver in the world had been in view of supply and demand, and showed that silver legislation had nothing to do with the matter. The fact was that it was impossible to show that the silver legislation had affected the price of agricultural products.

Mr. Harvey said that he had taken the figures as published and attributed to Mr. Wright. Taking up the regular discussion, Mr. Harvey presented a table showing the coinage of gold and silver from 1792 to 1873. He did this to show that the first fifty years of the National history did not from that time till 1873.

RELATIVE VALUES.

Horr--Coming down to the question in hand, he declared that it was useless to try to fix the relative value of any two substances by legislation. Suppose Congress should try to fix the relative value of a bushel of wheat and a bushel of oats. As soon as one of them had a large crop, up with the other. The law of supply and demand of the whole world would be the law of the ratio more than it would make water run up hill. The law of gravity would stand in the way; it was in the matter of ratio between silver and gold. The law of supply and demand stepped in there.

Mr. Harvey said that the world's production of silver was not so great as the production of gold, and that it was impossible to maintain a fixed ratio between the precious metals.

Mr. Harvey said that when he reached the matter contained in Mr. Horr's last talk, he thought his (Harvey's) answer was that the law of supply and demand was the law of the ratio. Continuing his argument, Mr. Harvey quoted statistics as to the consumption of gold in the arts and otherwise, as hoarding, to the effect that these uses equaled, if they did not exceed, the production, so that the amount of that metal for coinage was at a standstill.

Mr. Harvey then took up the question as to what is becoming of the silver being produced at present. He first quoted statements by authorities that the increase in the use of the metal in the arts had grown so large that there was always a rigid demand for the metal in Europe, and that there was a demand for practically all of the output of the United States as produced.

Mr. Horr said that the world's produc-

duction of gold, and that it was impossible to maintain a fixed ratio between the precious metals.

Mr. Harvey said that when he reached
